

Davis-Standard Strengthens Global Leadership with Appointment of Christian Renners as Business Unit President & Scott LeBrun as VP Sales & Marketing

PAWCATUCK, CT. (April 1, 2026) – Davis-Standard, a global leader in the design and manufacture of high-performance extrusion and converting technology, is pleased to announce a significant reinforcement of its executive leadership team. Christian Renners has been appointed as President of the Davis-Standard Business Unit (DSBU), and Scott LeBrun has joined as Vice President of Sales and Marketing for the Business Unit.

These appointments underscore Davis-Standard's "customer-obsessed" philosophy. Both Renners and LeBrun have immediately begun engaging with the company's global customer base to ensure the customer remains central to every strategic decision and operational improvement.

"I am incredibly honored to join Davis-Standard, a true industry pioneer with a rich history and a proven track record of leadership and innovation," said Christian Renners. "My focus is to build upon this impressive foundation, ensuring our legacy of excellence continues to thrive for another hundred years. We are not just selling machinery; we are partnering in our customers' success, and both Scott and I look forward to enhancing their ability to win in an increasingly competitive marketplace."

Scott LeBrun added, "Joining an organization that places the customer at the heart of every decision is a privilege. My priority is to align our global sales and marketing efforts to better serve our customers' evolving needs. By leveraging the immense technical depth within Davis-Standard, we will provide the high-level support and innovative solutions necessary for our partners to excel in their respective markets."

In his early tenure, Renners is working closely across the Davis-Standard family of brands—including Maillefer, battenfeld-cincinnati, and Exelliq. The goal is to identify and integrate the "best and brightest" technologies and expertise from across the organization to deliver tailored solutions that meet specific customer requirements.

"Christian's deep technical background and global perspective make him the ideal leader to drive the Davis-Standard Business Unit forward," said Steve Andrews, Chairman and CEO of Davis-Standard Corporation. "I have full confidence in his ability to lead this team to new heights and deliver service levels that will not only meet but exceed our customers' expectations. With Christian and Scott at the helm of our commercial efforts, we are better positioned than ever to serve the industry."

Renners also expressed his admiration for the internal talent at Davis-Standard. "The employees are the lifeblood of this organization. I am amazed by the deep roster of experts across our product lines. Many of our teammates have been with us for 20, 30, and even 40 years—that level of core knowledge is priceless and is what truly sets us apart."

About Christian Renners Christian Renners brings more than 25 years of leadership expertise in the plastics processing and machinery building sectors. Most recently, he served as CEO of Kögel Trailer GmbH, where he led a major business transformation. His extensive resume includes senior executive roles at Vossloh Fastening Systems GmbH (CEO and CTO) and Sumitomo (SHI) Demag (Chief Sales Officer). Having lived and worked in the U.S., Mexico, Spain, and Germany, Renners offers a truly global perspective on manufacturing and operational excellence.

About Scott LeBrun Scott LeBrun joins Davis-Standard with a formidable background in global commercial strategy. He most recently served as VP of Global Sales & Marketing at Fortifi Food Processing Solutions. His career includes senior leadership positions at Setra Systems (Fortive), Anderson-Negele, and SMC Corporation of America. LeBrun is recognized for his expertise in driving growth initiatives and deepening customer engagement on a global scale.
